

Sir

This fair Morning I thought to have made you a visit & to have put you in mind of a fault I made you for a unfortunate Gentleman my Cousin, but I thought that might bring you more trouble then the Censure although I have a bad expression in others, my Lord of Oxford writ to me out of the Army the Prince had given <sup>him</sup> his Pardon the Count of Nassau quit him, only said he should make peace with the friends, which on my word can say nothing against him, Captain Sanders the father of him was killed is dead, my Uncle that had the Misfortune to kill the other did it so much in his own defence that according to Honour and ~~his~~ the Judgment of the world nor blames him, (but that is not al near he not penitent) which am informed from worthy people he is, I protest I should not speak for him) it is now more then a year, and divers occasions have fallen out for his advancement had his pardon bin granted, Mr Lamier is bise a bought & the Penial of my defesed frind, otherways I had sent him to you I humbly beech get this don and I had acknoles it amongst the innumerable obligations in which Godnes hath a bounded to for

4. 108. 46.

your humble
obliged servante

L. de Kenefflein

that may acertain take out for his more important
matters me to the
more important
be better on pardon of

on al
I
re
not e ions
ment
l
the row
nd
the
ick
te lein

for my very much Honored friend
Sir Constantine
Huygens

