

Myn vader in Othager

28N

Door deth dat ons byt commissione hale gaet welchig & welch tukken my gescreue enige dochter ons kleine vrouwe en deth ^{Doublie en blauwys, ons daer op te wachten} en contractate, wiche we ghe te bedenckt,豫ende tot antwoort dat by ons ghe bedenckt heeft dat die lande moeg oft staey, maar fullie ons den adel van des etsch prinsenlands gheve qualiteyt, by de miel vande hoflyke en ont genaegheden ghent, mitte de in der waerden ghevonden aldaer ghe gheuen conformatie, verhoogende de jonge huyden, is dat van voortgaen datre als in't hiel alle geluck & conuentient. Neven welke jarey tot saling is. — Dronck also de. 15. dat der quaefmeest den ueroop der doctringedienst approbed, selue dat sooper des daags van beginn, dan aldaer, was, hys sufficiens teachlyke information te houen, int tractabel syde de pene der georgte twe moeges was overgh lande hieker is goudt and hys regementre ind'e eage noemende te welle gehouden, indien elcijt mocht horen, datse datre ons. dat dat aldaer spaelig, tot antwoort te welle houen, datde more geluck vee trouwhe toe gede ~~behaerlyk~~, datre ghe gheuey is, ghelyk, verhoed. nade en die alleh leut' gebuwen ist te blyuwen

Myn vader in Othager

den 9 february 1660
in amsterdam

te ootmaed-ditnare
land van badhoe

This image shows a single page from an antique manuscript. The paper is heavily discolored to a light tan or beige, with visible fibers and some darker, mottled areas. The text is written in a dense, cursive script, likely Gothic or medieval in style, in a dark brown ink. The handwriting is fluid but somewhat irregular, with varying line lengths and some larger, more prominent letters. There are several horizontal lines of text across the page, though they are not perfectly aligned. In the lower right quadrant, there is a small, faint, rectangular stamp or mark, possibly a library or ownership emblem, which is mostly illegible but appears to contain some text and a symbol. The overall appearance is that of a well-preserved historical document.

Dyn zelle
Myn vader Constatius huyghens Vader lode van Duyngem & Olden raet was syn heerlyk

Op.

Inde
Sage

