the application of the same to the publick and privatek interest of the country. I have been engaged, by the late Dr. Deacon, to write a short account of the late Dr. Deacon's past life and his present situation, and to make some recommendations, and particularly to give advice to the friends of the deceased, and to those who are desirous of continuing his benevolent and patriotic spirit. I have written a short sketch of his life, and have sent it to Dr. Deacon, to be read at the meeting of the Friends of the Poor, to be held at the New Meeting House, on Saturday evening, the 1st of October, at half past seven o'clock.
I have also written a short sketch of the life of Dr. Deacon, to be read
