stp asked if the thought the army would take action if the president could not work out a compromise cma the minister replied quickly colon quo if the civilians continue to make a mess of things then the army would have to step in unquo stp he seemed surprised at the question colon quo could the army do this vrgtkn unquo and answered colon quo but of course cma if the president decided this was the way to do things unquo stp turning to the soviet loan cma the minister said that the government was now negotiating for another loan cma and that the figure mentioned in discussions between him and the soviet ambassador was u s dollars fifteen million stp the minister said he was also attempting to secure a loan from china for consumer goods and tekstile machinery stp he added that the government was also very active in talking about credits to the various american agencies in jakarta stp he said he had in mind a fairly considerable credit loan from the various united states sources stp he said he did not think it would adversely affect the economy of the country to have these large loans because they mostly concerned capitals goods stp on the question of the government s increase of note circulation by one thousand sikshundred siksty seven million rupiahs during the month of december nineteenhundred fiftyeight cma the minister said this was not due to the government s budget accounting stp the various government departments drew the money from the central treasury and placed it to their own various accounts before the end of the year cma knowing that if they did not then they might lose these appropriations if they applied for them in nineteenhundred fiftyne stp the money was not actually in circulation and had not been spent cma because material was not available for new projects cma etc stp the minister said the system was bad and he hoped this year to change it stp unquote
